WHY PUBLIC NOTICES ARE IMPORTANT

Public notices allow citizens to monitor their government and make sure that it is working in their best interest. Independent newspapers assist in this cause by carrying out their partnership with the people's right to know through public notices. By offering an independent and archived record of public notices, newspapers foster a more trusting relationship between government and its citizens.

Newspapers have the experience and expertise in publishing public notices and have done so since the Revolutionary War. Today, they remain an established, trustworthy and neutral source that ably transfers information between government and the people.

Public notices are the lasting record of how the public's resources are used and are presented in the most efficient and effective means possible.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

Default: Failure to fulfill an obligation, especially the obligation to make payments when due to a lender.

Encumbrance: A right attached to the property of another that may lessen its value, such as a lien, mortgage, or easement.

Foreclosure: The legal process of terminating an owner's interest in property, usually as the result of a default under a mortgage. Foreclosure may be accomplished by order of a court or by the statutory process known as foreclosure by advertisement (also known as a power of sale foreclosure).

Lien: A legal claim asserted against the property of another, usually as security for a debt or obligation.

Mortgage: A lien granted by the owner of property to provide security for a debt or obligation.

Power of Sale: A clause commonly written into a mortgage authorizing the mortgagee to advertise and sell the property in the event of default. The process is governed by statute, but is not supervised by any court.

Probate: The court procedure in which a decedent's liabilities are settled and her assets are distributed to her heirs.

Public Notice: Notice given to the public or persons affected regarding certain types of legal proceedings, usually by publishing in a newspaper of general circulation. This notice is usually required in matters that concern the public.
